The Sexual Assault Center Announces
a New Vice President of Development and Marketing

Nashville, TN, May 15, 2009 --- The Sexual Assault Center is pleased to announce that Audra Davis has joined the Center as Vice President of Development and Marketing.

Davis was previously Director of Development for Rocketown, where she worked since 2003. She has been involved in non-profit development for 15 years.

"We welcome Audra's breadth of experience in development and marketing. She has creative ideas and vision, and we believe she will greatly benefit the Center and the people we serve," says Tim Tohill, President of the Sexual Assault Center.

About the Sexual Assault Center

The Sexual Assault Center (SAC), started in 1978, is the only place in Middle Tennessee that specializes in treatment for sexual assault victims. Our counselors are specially certified and trained in these areas and work with more than 700 victims a year; half of these are children. Beyond individual treatment, we have group therapy sessions for children, teens, men, women, and families of survivors. The Center presents Community Workshops, which provide speakers and programs for a wide range of topics; these are appropriate for churches, civic groups, high school and college students, and corporate workplaces, and reach 2,000 individuals each year. We are a TennCare provider and accept most health insurance policies. We also have grants that cover specific types of abuse victims. All clients receive the same excellence of care, regardless of ability to pay. For more information, visit www.SACenter.org.
